Sensor Technology in Psychotherapy with Adolescents

Systematic Review of Sensors in Psychotherapy

Investigation of the use and effectiveness of sensory technology in psychotherapy for children and adolescents

Process

Formulation of Theory, Hypotheses, Objectives

Literature Search in Databases = 38.560

(PubMed, Web of Science, APA PsycInfo, Psyndex, Cochrane Library)

Article Inclusion n = 11

Qualitative Assessment RoB2, ROBINS-I

Narrative Synthesis with Categories

Inclusion Criteria

Population: children, adolescents, adolescents with mental disorders

Intervention: sensor-based guideline psychotherapy

Comparison: use of sensors and target for different disorders

Outcome: use, scope and aim of sensors in psychotherapy, effectiveness of the therapy approach

Study design: all types of studies, single case or pilot study, RCT, cross-sectional or longitudinal study

Pre-Registration

PROSPERO 2023 CRD42023374219 Available from: https://www.crd.york.ac.uk/prospero/display_record.php?ID=CRD42023374219

Project Members KJP

Prof. Dr. T. Renner
Prof. Dr. A. Conzelmann
Dr. L. Seizer
M. von Fraunberg
A. Alt
A. Pascher

